Road resurfacing and line painting: Mostly complete. Clerk to ask Highways about the remaining marking at the junctions, and ask for removal of temporary signs.

Village gates: These have now been installed. Feedback welcome, as are any suggestions for whether residents would like to see further signage or planters added.

Safety measures at Emstrey Bank: The double white lines have been installed. Cllr Coleman to follow up about whether any further signage is pending, to replace temporary 'no overtaking' signs. The ongoing campaign for a speed reduction on this stretch of road is currently on pause as we wait for the outcome of the Salop Leisure planning application.

Vehicle Activated Signs: Jason Hughes (Street Lighting & Traffic Signals Manager at SC) has approved removal of the existing defunct signs and replacement with new units by the Parish Council. We now await his department's removal of the old units.

Bin emptying (Old Bridge and layby): This has been done, but not as often as it needs to be, especially during summer months when they need weekly emptying. Cllr Coleman to raise this with SC/Keir. Councillors and residents are encouraged to continue reporting overflowing bins (with photos) via FixMyStreet.com.

Phone box: Clerk still trying to get the maintenance jobs done by BT Openreach.

River matters: The planned session with the Environment Agency, Severn Rivers Trust, and riparian landowners, has been put back because of full agendas (planning applications) and will be planned for the autumn.

Planning: After discussion, APC resolved to support the Mytton and Mermaid overflow car park application with the following comments:

Atcham Parish Council supports the application. The majority of parish councillors fully support the proposal, primarily as it is much needed to relieve the parking problems within the village and there is no alternative plan available. Residents have been battling inconsiderate and dangerous parking within the narrow lanes of Atcham for years and have repeatedly approached the Parish Council seeking solutions. The parish council feels that this proposal, amended to reduce visible impact and blend into the environment, is a well-considered approach and an improvement on the previous proposal.

Some reservations have been expressed by residents, with some concerns raised about the visual impact and worries about possible anti-social behaviour on a site that has already seen ASB incidents in recent years. But overall the parish council feels that this is a sympathetically designed proposal to help alleviate ongoing problems that affect both residents and visitors to the village and that have a significant impact on the built and natural environment in and around Atcham.

(Prop: MR, Sec: SC. 4 in favour, 0 against, 1 abstention.)

There were no further planning applications received in advance of this meeting.

The next parish council meeting will be held on Wednesday 9th September 2026.

Do you have any comments? Or a new idea that might benefit the community? Please come along to one of our meetings or contact the Clerk. Don't forget to let us know if you have any community news that you would like us to share online. Hills Ford Stages rally comes to Shropshire this September

Residents across Atcham and Berrington Parish may have heard that the Hills Ford Stages Rally is coming to Shropshire this September.

The event, which takes place over the weekend of 19–20 September, is one of the country's leading closed-road rally events and will bring competitors, rally teams, officials and visitors into the county for a weekend of motorsport, community activity and local celebration.

For residents in Atcham, Berrington, Betton, Brompton, Cantlop, Cross Houses and Eaton Mascott, it is important to stress that the parish is not on a rally stage or within a road-closure area. Local roads will remain open as normal, although there may be increased traffic on some routes over the weekend as visitors travel to and from the wider rally area.

The rally cars will start from Shrewsbury town centre on Saturday, before travelling to Weston Park for an afternoon of rally action. Weston Park will also host a small Rally Show in the build-up to the stages, with further details to be announced, including opportunities for local traders and businesses to become involved. On Sunday, crews will tackle a series of special stages on closed public roads across parts of Shropshire.

As with any major event taking place across a rural area, the organising team is working closely with local communities, parish representatives, landowners, emergency services and Shropshire Council to ensure the event is delivered safely and with as little disruption as possible.

Households and businesses directly affected by any road closures will receive detailed information directly from the rally's Communities and Business Liaison Team. This will include closure timings, access arrangements and contact details for anyone who needs assistance or has a question.

The Hills Ford Stages is a not-for-profit event, organised by volunteers, and is keen to make a positive contribution to its new home in Shropshire. Alongside the rally itself, the event is working with local businesses, accommodation providers, schools, colleges and community groups to help create opportunities and encourage visitors to explore the county responsibly.

Further information, including event updates, spectator guidance and community news, will be available nearer the time through the Hills Ford Stages website and social-media channels.

The organisers would like to thank local residents for their welcome and support as preparations continue for what they hope will become a positive regular event for Shropshire.

Many residents will have noticed how unusual this summer has felt. Lawns have turned brown far earlier than normal, garden plants have needed extra care, and streams and ponds have shown the effects of a prolonged lack of rainfall. Across much of England, exceptionally dry weather and periods of high temperatures have combined to create challenging conditions for both the countryside and water supplies. Reports have suggested that July 2026 may rank among the driest Julys in the historical record for some areas of England and Wales.

The impact of these conditions can be seen throughout the landscape. Farmers have faced concerns about crop yields and increased fire risk during harvesting, while lower river levels have affected waterways and navigation in some locations. After months of below-average rainfall, the ground has become increasingly dry, meaning that any brief shower tends to make little difference to overall conditions.

For those of us in the Midlands, the situation is particularly relevant because our water is supplied by Severn Trent Water. The company's reservoir levels have fallen steadily through the summer. According to Severn Trent's published figures, overall reservoir storage stood at 68.5% on 3 August 2026, compared with over 90% during the spring.

The wider region has also been affected by drought conditions. News reports at the beginning of August noted that the West Midlands had been officially declared to be in drought, with reservoir storage, river flows and groundwater levels continuing to decline.

Despite these pressures, Severn Trent Water had not introduced a hosepipe ban as of early August 2026. Customers were, however, being encouraged to use water carefully and avoid unnecessary consumption wherever possible.

Simple measures can make a real difference. Collecting rainwater when available, watering plants in the early morning or evening, fixing dripping taps, and avoiding wasteful use of hosepipes all help to reduce demand. While individual actions may seem small, collectively they can ease pressure on water resources during dry periods.

Of course, the British weather is famous for changing quickly, and a period of sustained rainfall would help replenish soils, rivers and reservoirs. However, experts point out that recovery from a long dry spell takes time, particularly when water levels have been depleted over several months.

For now, the parched appearance of gardens and fields serves as a reminder that water is a precious resource. As we enjoy the remaining weeks of summer, a little extra care in how we use it will help ensure supplies remain secure for everyone.

MYTTON AND MERMAID

Following refusal of the original Planning Application, a revised scheme has been submitted to Shropshire Council for an overflow car park for the popular Mytton & Mermaid pub in Atcham. This is the third attempt to secure permission for additional parking.

The original scheme for the overflow car park, which is on land to the west of the River Severn and accessed via the old bridge (now a footbridge) has seen the number of spaces reduced from 93 to 62.

The arrangement of the car park has seen it moved further away from the river, with an earth mound and planting designed to minimise the visual impact of the development – which was one of the main concerns about the original application, in particular in relation to heritage assets in the locality. Access to the river from the car park has been removed.

At the time of going to press, there were 105 comments in support of the proposal and 9 objecting to it on the Planning Portal (application reference 26/02360/FUL). The agent for the application also submitted a letter detailing 496 comments in support of the car park, one objection, and five with 'no box ticked' from consultation cards which were made available to customers at the venue in recent weeks.

Atcham Parish Council has resolved to support the revised application.

IN BRIEF

Planning Permission Granted in Cressage

On 16 July, Outline Planning Permission was granted for 60 dwellings on land to the west of Harley Road in Cressage (reference 25/03043/OUT). The application drew widespread objections (32 against, 1 for). As the application was for outline permission, the developer must submit further assessments before construction can commence.

Did you know?

Plastic plant pots and seed trays, which often come in greys, black and brown cannot be recycled. This is because they are made of a specific type of dark / rigid plastic which cannot be automatically detected by sorting machines, whilst it also keeps soil residue out of the recycling waste stream. Therefore, if you are unable to take them to a local garden centre which may be able to reuse them then they should be disposed of in your general waste bin.

Shropshire Great Outdoors Annual Survey 2026

The Annual Shropshire Great Outdoors Survey gathers information about how people access the great outdoors in Shropshire. The survey is led by The Shropshire Outdoor Partnerships Service; the part of Shropshire Council that maintains and develops recreational access, conserves and enhances the natural environment and encourages people to improve their wellbeing by being active outdoors. The service maintains and protects public rights of way, country parks, countryside and heritage sites, greenspaces and play areas, and supports the Shropshire Hills National Landscape Partnership. The survey is open until 27/09/2026 and can be filled in online at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/R3HR7VV>

Risk of wildfires

As we continue to experience a very dry summer, the risk of wildfires in the countryside remains high. Shropshire Fire and Rescue Services Community Fire and Safety Officer John Round says: "We have seen an increase in the number of fires.

"The dry weather always brings an increase in fires and this year is worse than most because of the high levels of sunshine."

The golden rules are:

- Don't throw cigarettes or matches out of a car window
- Ensure cigarettes are properly put out when walking in the countryside
- Ensure bonfires are well away from hedges and fences and have a hosepipe or bucket of water close by just in case
- Do not use disposable barbecues in grassland areas or open countryside

Solar Eclipse

Wednesday 12th August

On Wednesday 12 August 2026, a solar eclipse will be visible across Shropshire as part of a total solar eclipse that crosses Iceland and northern Spain. From Shropshire, the event will be seen as a deep partial eclipse, with roughly nine-tenths of the Sun covered at maximum, creating an eerie late-afternoon dimming and turning the Sun into a thin crescent low in the western sky. Across the UK, the eclipse is expected to begin shortly after 18:00, peak a little after 19:00, and end around 20:00, although exact timings vary by location. While we will not experience totality, this will still be one of the most impressive eclipses visible from Britain in decades, so clear western horizons will be essential.

BERRINGTON CHURCH RESTORATION

In April 2026, the Grade I listed All Saints' Church in Berrington, Shropshire became the newest member of the Churches Conservation Trust (CCT) collection, which now numbers 358 churches across England.

As the national charity protecting historic churches at risk, the CCT occasionally takes on new churches through a process known as 'vesting'. This procedure is a statutory process governed by the Church of England whereby redundant churches of high historic or architectural quality are transferred into the care of CCT.

All Saints' dates to the 13th century, with some later alterations and a church is referred to in Berrington in the Domesday Book of 1086 which is thought to have been on the same site. Notable features inside the church include a working clock, which is still wound daily and a rare 13th century carved oak effigy of a cross-legged knight which lies in a tomb recess in the south aisle. The font dates to the 12th century and is thought to be an upturned column capital from the nearby Roman city of Wroxeter.

As with all new vestings, conservation and building work will need to be undertaken before the church can be opened to the public.

CCT's Conservation Project Manager Kathryn Moore said: 'We are planning to start work in May which should take around six months to complete. Scaffolding will be erected to allow for a full re-roof, in addition to new rainwater goods, masonry repairs and window repairs. Internally we will be repairing the ceiling and floors and conserving the monuments including the font and knight effigy and upgrading the electrical supply and toilet facilities.'

A major priority for CCT is to engage with the local community throughout the work at the church. To express an interest and find out more about getting involved, please contact north@thecct.org.uk.

As of July 2026, restoration work is ongoing, with the following tasks having been undertaken:

- All Gravestones and tombs have been protected prior to scaffold erection.
- All redundant under pew bar heaters have been removed and pews have been

Above: Berrington Village Church. Credit: CCT

- Pews in the South Isle have been removed ready for inspection of the floor make up.
- The Organ has had the stud wall and polythene covering completed with an access door to the Eastern side.
- Temporary roof scaffolding is nearing completion; there has been a few hold ups and changes due to scaffold design issues this has caused a little delay with the roof stripping.
- All Ridge tiles have been removed under a watching brief; all ridges remain intact with no losses.
- All guttering and down pipes have been removed with the Down pipes stored for reuse. Some of the down pipe ears have had failed historic weld repairs that will require re-welding.
- The cross has been removed (before it fell down) from the Eastern gable and has been taken to our Masons for measuring up and profiling for quotation.
- Roof stripping to recommence starting with the chancel.
- Septic tank has been emptied and inspected. The tank itself is in good working condition. There is how ever a recommendation for an inlet manhole and an outlet manhole to aid in any further maintenance work.
- Temporary Tap installed in place of broken water heater for the us of filling IBC tanks for kentledge to the scaffold.

LOCAL WALKS

Over the coming editions of The Village Pump we'll feature instructions for a number of local walks so you can maximise enjoyment of our beautiful countryside.

1. Starting in Cross Houses, join the public right of way near the attenuation pond on the Berrington Meadows development and head south through the Leylandii trees and across the former railway line, ensuring you stick to the path in this section on private land.
2. Continue through the centre of the field up towards the church in Berrington.
3. When you meet Church Lane, turn left and then immediately right. At this point, two private drives converge with a field track; ensure you take the left-most track (the one without gravel).
4. Head through the gap in the hedges and down the hill to the kissing gate.
5. After the gate, continue directly through the centre of the field to a stile on the opposite side.
6. After you've walked across a meadow on the side of a sloped field, turn right at Eaton Mascott and continue for ~500 m.
7. Look for a small wooden stile on the right, deep in the hedge. Step up the bank and into the field.
8. After following the path across three fields, you'll pass behind Berrington Village Hall, past a small paddock. Go through the kissing gate, across the board bridge over the ditch and walk through the village.
9. The lane from Berrington to Cross Houses is very quiet and an easy walk. At the end, turn right and follow the path along the A458 back into Cross Houses.

Total distance: ~4.8 km (3 miles)

Approx. duration: 1 hour

Please follow the countryside code and keep dogs on a lead where requested.

BERRINGTON PARISH COUNCIL

VILLAGE GATEWAYS

New Village Gateway entrances to Cross Houses have been installed at both ends of the village on the A458. It is hoped these will enhance the entrances to the village and contribute to efforts to slow traffic on the main road.

COMMUNITY SPEED WATCH

James Healey, who is organising the Community Speed Watch scheme, updated the parish council on progress. West Mercia Police have still yet to respond.

BYWAY FROM CANTLOP TO CANTLOP MILL

Councillor Eccles advised that for over a year now he had been campaigning to get the path to Cantlop Mill made passable. Shropshire Council has acknowledged the issue but it is being passed from department to department and is now back with Highways, although this will never be a road. Councillor Coleman is on the case to ensure that the matter doesn't fall into a black hole and will speak with Shropshire Council's Outdoor Partnership team.

BERRINGTON SOLAR FARM

An update was provided on attempts to seek community benefit from the forthcoming solar farm. Flour not Power (a local residents' action group in Berrington who fought against Econergy's plans for the solar farm) settled in December 2024. It is believed that Flour not Power attempted to secure a benefit for the Parish but Econergy wasn't interested. There is a document stating that a compensation scheme was agreed between the developer and Flour not Power.

It was agreed that although it is highly likely that the matter is now closed, the Clerk would write to Econergy to determine if there is any prospect of negotiating some form of community benefit package.

TREES IN CROSS HOUSES

Councillor Morris has been pushing for work to trim the trees in Cross Houses between The Chestnuts and the main road, which has now recently been completed.

BORETON BRIDGE

The damaged Boreton Bridge (which is Grade II listed) is being repaired from July - August.

CROSS HOUSES COMMUNITY CENTRE

The parish council is continuing to look for volunteers to help with the running of the Chapel Community Centre. The more who get involved, the lighter the load will be.

Whether you can help with providing access / locking the building up, checking the tidiness between bookings or fixing a leaking tap, any and all support is appreciated.

Please contact the parish council at berringtonpc@gmail.com for further information.

WELCOME TO JAMES ADNEY

Berrington Parish Council has had two casual vacancies advertised for some time, with the vacancies being advertised in The Village Pump, on the Parish Council's website and noticeboards.

One application was received and as the applicant met the eligibility criteria to become a parish councillor, the vacancy could be filled by Mr James Adney.

Berrington Parish Council continues to have one casual vacancy.

The next parish council meeting will be held on Thursday 3rd September 2026.

Wildlife at Crabapple

Crabapple Community is an earth-conscious, low-impact community living at Berrington Hall. The community owns and cares for wildlife-rich land including permaculture gardens, woodland, orchards, grassland and hedgerows. The land is home to many different species including barn owls, grass snakes, weasels, deer, bats, flycatchers and house martins, to name only a few.

Sam, a Crabapple member, has lived as part of the community for over four years. A passionate naturalist, she writes about her encounters with the wildlife of these lands.

I sit, still and silent, beneath the Tall Oak on a warm spring afternoon. Beams of sunlight push through the gently wavering leaves, creating a glittering effect. I gaze up in awe at the four beautiful fluffy creatures sitting amongst the twisting branches. I sit in deep gratitude and astonishment. One of them turns to look down at me, and the big, black eyes of the tawny owl chick seem to stare into my soul.

We are lucky at Crabapple to be a home to nesting tawnies every year. We're usually alerted to their presence later on in the year, when the chicks are branching out further from their nest site and begin their incessant begging for food. Some years, we've heard them wake at 2 in the afternoon and begin their squeaky broken-dog-toy begging calls, ceasing only at 7 the following morning. As long as I've been here, there's only ever been two chicks. But this year has been a good vole year, and plentiful food means plentiful healthy babies.

Streaks of oak-tree-bark brown adorn the oldest chick. Were he not out in the day amongst the sunlit leaves, he would be totally camouflaged nestled against the trunk or branches. The two middle-aged chicks, which we've named The Twins, huddle closely together, almost inseparably so. It's hard to tell where the fluff of one butt ends and the fluff of the other begins. As one of the twins continues gazing at me, I see in detail the wisps of baby feathers bloating their face, a big, soft, round ball of grey. The youngest chick, barely emerged from the nest, sits far apart from the others. Their head is tucked down into or in front of their body, and their colouring is incredibly pale; they look like a glowing white orb floating in the leaves.

Suddenly, the eldest whips his head round and projects small, desperate squeaks from his sharp beak. His head dips and wobbles, he pulls his wings out from his body and he flies awkwardly across to a nearby ash tree. He lands loudly and clumsily, a mess of streaky brown. The twins urgently follow suit, and I guess that a parent is nearby, about to bring them some delicious voles. I think it's time I leave them to enjoy their breakfast in peace.

The Water Pump in Berrington Village

Marcia Rathbone

Between 1817 and 1896 the world experienced a series of Cholera epidemics. Global deaths totalled millions, with estimates over 200,000,000. More than 140,000 people died in England, mostly in London.

The epidemic was caused by the Vibrio Cholerae bacteria which is still found in contaminated, dirty water across many regions of the world affecting an estimated 4 million people each year.

In response to the UK epidemic the British Government enacted the 1878 Water Act requiring 'occupied dwelling-house within their district, has within a reasonable distance an available supply of wholesome water sufficient for consumption and use for domestic purposes for the inmates of the house.'

The landowner at Eaton Mascott offered a small piece of land in Berrington village to locate the new pump.

The Board of Guardians of the Atcham Poor Law Union, an association of local rate payers, business owners, lawyers and clergy took ownership of the land and managed the development of Berrington's water supply. They also arranged for the village's water pump and trough to be enclosed by a three-sided red brick wall. The water pump is one of more than one hundred water pumps in Shropshire. Attingham Park has one on the estate and pumps can be found in the villages of Easton Mascot, Cantlop, Cound and Upper Cound.

At some point in the past the responsibility for the pump was passed from the Board of Guardians of the Atcham Poor Law Union to Atcham Rural Council. The Council was disbanded in the 1970s.

Later in 1986 the pump, trough and walls were assigned Grade II listed status by National Heritage, England. They are now protected by law for their special architectural or historic interest. They also are protected under the Ancient Monuments and Archeological Areas Act 1979.

Yet sometimes across the years the pump, trough and walls fell into disrepair due to the unstable ground under the structure. And as the pump is located close to a right of way, the path regularly needed to be closed for safety concerns.

Over the years local residents have worked to repair, renovate and care for the pump.

1973 – Bill Powis, a local resident, arranged for the pump to be completely renovated.

1980 – Mrs Rosemary Willday, another local resident, tidied the area around the pump and planted flowers in the trough with the permission of the vicar of Berrington church.

2000 – A local resident arranged for ground work to be repair and the pump resettled. But the groundwork was still unstable and within a short period of time the pump began to fall into the ground once again.

In January 2026 I asked if the Parish Council was willing to gift the cost of groundwork to the village to create a permanent solution to the routine collapse of the ground under the pump. This was agreed.

In May 2026 the local building contractor Jake Smith at JSB Building completed the ground work.

The pump is now secured in place. Local residents have helped paint the pump and also fill the trough with summer flowers.

The right of way across the meadows had been closed for over four years. It was reopened on 1st May 2026. It is a short and lovely walk.

After nine months of planning, consultation and construction work it will soon be time for the next phase of the renovation. The Grade II listed red brick wall needs to be rebuilt.

Thank you to all involved so far, for your advice, guidance and support. You have all helped renew this precious piece of our history once again.

Thank you to the Parish Council, Claire Wild, Councillor Susan Coleman, Dr Andy Wigley at Shropshire

Council Heritage, Mick Crowe, Jake Smith, Sue and Mark White, Richard and Oscar Purslow, Henry Carpenter and the village residents who kindly painted the pump a wonderful racing green.

WATER SAFETY

Even though Shropshire is the largest land-locked county in England, hot weather can tempt many people to go for a swim in some of the many rivers, ponds, lakes and reservoirs in the area.

However, water can host hidden dangers, which include:

- Temperature (cold)
- There may be hidden currents
- It can be difficult to get out (steep slimy banks)
- It can be deep

- There may be hidden rubbish, e.g. shopping trolleys, broken glass
- There are no lifeguards
- It is difficult to estimate depth
- It may be polluted and may make you ill

Advice for staying safe around water

- Keep away from the water's edge and closely supervise young children at all times.
- Never swim in open water when there are no life-guards present.

- Don't jump or dive into open water; submerged objects such as rocks may not be visible and can cause serious injuries.
- Be aware that there may be strong currents, even where the water surface appears calm.
- Weirs, locks, pipes and sluices are especially dangerous.
- Take note of warning signs, safety information or flags near the water's edge.

- Get out of the water as soon as you start to feel cold.
- Water can be very cold even in summer, causing cramp and breathing difficulties – these can affect even the strongest swimmer.
- Wear the recommended safety equipment for your activity, e.g. life jackets / helmets.
- Alcohol may impair your ability and judgment.

THE VILLAGE PUMP, AUG-SEPT 2026

News from your Shropshire Councillor Susan Coleman

Financial Situation

The financial situation at Shropshire Council continues to be of grave concern and cuts to services are being felt. Most objection has been to the closing of the Meole Brace Park and Ride. I spoke to the Portfolio Holder for transport who assured me that they had researched in depth the number of journeys and because the government has cut £200,000 from our transport budget, we could not afford a bus contract for 3 Park & Ride services and this was the least used throughout a whole day so will stop in November when the new bus contract starts

Highways

Highways concerns still take up much of my time. Please report potholes, faulty street lights, fly tipping or other highways issues on Fix My Street (www.fixmystreet.com). That way the number and complexity can be monitored but if you don't see them repaired within three months please contact me with the reference number so that I can flag to highways officers.

Shropshire and Wrekin Fire Authority

I was pleased to be elected as Vice Chair of the Fire Authority in June. The full authority meets four times a year and we have three other subcommittees: Strategy & Resources, Performance & Scrutiny and Audit & Standards who meet regularly to monitor service delivery and finances and report back to the main authority: look out for our Fire Station Open Days this summer in Shrewsbury August 29th, Telford August 8th and Wellington August 15th.

The Fire Service is a great career for women and men and Shropshire Fire & Rescue Service is currently recruiting for new fire fighters so do share that message.

Out and About

I write this just after Buildwas Summer Fete and Dog show which attracted a good turnout and I stocked up with some plants and enjoyed delicious home-made cake and a cuppa! The same weekend saw Atcham Fete and Duck Race too, so I was busy! Berrington has its Jazz night coming up so we hope the dry weather is on the menu that day too.

Follow me on Facebook to see what else I'm doing as your Councillor and email me with any concerns that you have and I will try my best to help you.

MUCH WENLOCK & CRESSAGE MEDICAL PRACTICE

Our very own Dr Jess Harvey, has been named national winner of the leadership award at the inaugural NHS Excellence Awards.

The awards, delivered by NHS England, celebrate the people, teams and organisations driving improvement, innovation and collaboration across health and care in England. Winners were announced during a ceremony at NHS ConfedExpo in Manchester in June.

The judges recognised Dr Harvey for her engaging, evidence-led style of leadership, recognising her work with the Primary Care Network to implement several initiatives successfully as part of a push to improve neighbourhood services. Judges said the breadth of activity and impact made her nomination stand out.

Dr Harvey said: "I am incredibly honoured to receive this recognition. It means a great deal. I feel very fortunate to do a job that I genuinely love and to have had so many opportunities to make a difference. Most importantly, I am privileged to work alongside so many talented and dedicated people. They have supported me throughout my career, and many of the projects I have led or been involved in simply would not have been possible without them. This recognition is as much a reflection of their contribution as it is mine.

Her achievements include helping create a Community Health and Wellbeing Centre in Highley by relocating and refitting Highley Medical Practice within the local leisure centre, securing healthcare into the heart of one of Shropshire's most deprived communities.

South East Shropshire Stoma Group News

A South East Shropshire Stoma Group supporting patients in the local area has been set up. The inaugural meeting was held at the Methodist Church in Much Wenlock on the 22 June and a further meeting has been arranged for 9 November 2026. Walking the dog or feeding pets. Attending appointments together. We need volunteers, if you can spare as little as an hour every couple of weeks, we would love to hear from you. Please contact the practice 01952 726011.

NATURE RECOVERY ON THE ATTINGHAM ESTATE

Attingham Park is well known for its historic mansion and beautiful parkland, but a major nature recovery project is now underway across the wider estate. Covering around 1,500 hectares of woodland, parkland, farmland and tenanted farms, the Attingham Nature Recovery Project aims to make more space for wildlife while helping people reconnect with nature on their doorstep.

Led by the National Trust, the project looks ahead over the next decade and seeks to restore nature-rich habitats, support more sustainable farming practices, capture carbon and improve the landscape's resilience to climate change. The long-term vision is for healthier soils, more wildflowers, thriving wetlands and woodlands, and hedgerows filled with birdsong.

Practical work is already taking place across the estate. Rangers and volunteers have begun restoring ponds, which provide valuable habitats for plants and animals while also helping with water storage and flood management. Woody debris barriers are also being installed, drawing on techniques developed through the Shropshire Slow the Flow project.

Woodland creation has been another important focus. At Lower Betton Farm, more than 16,000 saplings have been planted to establish Lambart Wood, creating new habitat alongside developing wildflower meadows. Recent monitoring has shown kestrels and tawny owls making use of specially installed raptor posts, an encouraging sign that wildlife is responding positively to the changes.

The project is supported by the Severn Valley Water Management Scheme Demonstrator Programme through a three-year funding agreement involving the Environment Agency and Shropshire Council.

Volunteers, local groups and students have also played an important role, helping with ecological surveys and habitat creation.

As the project develops, the aim is not only to enhance biodiversity but also to create a healthier, more resilient landscape for future generations to enjoy.

By 2034, the National Trust wants to see Attingham's soils teem with earthworms and insects, supporting the production of high-quality local food. Meadows will burst with wildflowers, and wetlands, woodlands and hedgerows will be alive with birdsong.

The National Trust recognises the project as ambitious and has called for partners and local communities to turn the plans into action on the ground. To find out more or get involved email attingham@nationaltrust.org.uk.

Above: How the fields between Cross Houses (on the right) and the River Severn (on the left) could be transformed by the plans.
